In Indonesia, four men have been arrested for smuggling about 150 exotic birds which were meant to be transported to the Philippines. The police found the animals stuffed into plastic drain pipes that were sealed at each end by a wire. In the US, this delivery is worth approximately $250,000. Those exotic birds are often illegally sold as pets and are seen as status symbols. Nearly one week after discovering the illegally captured birds, the police had managed to track down four men who are allegedly responsible for this act. According to police officials they had several eyewitness accounts which led to the arrests. The suspects face up to five years in prison and an up to $8000 fine if found guilty. However, the case rests on an anonymous tip which provides a very weak case and all four suspects still deny any connection to the smuggling affair. Thus, a conviction seems unlikely.

In Indonesia, four men stole 150 exotic birds. They were stuffed and tied with razor wire. They are worth $250,000 in the US, and are often used as pets or status symbols. A week later, the police tracked down the men thanks to eye witness accounts. If convicted, the men face up to five years in jail and an $8000 fine. However, it is unlikely they will be convicted because the eyewitness report is flimsy and the men deny all charges.

In Indonesia, four men stole 150 exotic birds worth $250,000. If caught, they are going to face fines and up to 8 years in prison.

Four men arrested trying to smuggle 150 exotic birds into Phillipines.
Conviction seems unlikely since all evidence is an anonymous tip and eyewitness reports and all four men deny any involvement.

In indonesia 4 men have been arrested in connection with a smuggling ring. Exotic birds were found stuffed inside a tube with wire at the end. They are sold in the us as pets for status symbols. The police were able to trackdown four men in connection with the smuggling ring.

Four men have been arrested because suspected of trafficking exotic birds. There is no evidence against them, just the report of a tip made by an eyewitness, so they're unlikely to be convicted.

four men who were trying to smuggle in 150 were arrested. There is not a good chance of them being put in jail.

In Indonesia, four men have been arrested for bird smuggling. They are sold as pets in the United States. This was part of a smuggling ring.

A bunch of birds were poached and held together with wire. The men who poached them will likely only have to pay a fine of about 8.000 dollars because the evewitnesses are unreliable.

Poachers are accused of stealing and illegally transporting about a quarter of a million dollars worth of exotic birds. The birds were tied together with razor wire and crammed in together. The men will likely get off. Even if convicted they would only have to pay a small fraction of the value of the birds.. about 8,000 dollars. It is unlikely they will even be convicted because eyewitness accounts are flimsy. This is tragic.

Birds were poached and held in wire cages. Due to the eyewitness accounts being unreliable, the perpetrators will only face 8,000 in fines.

Four men are suspected of trafficking exotic birds. The evidence is just a eye witness which probably isn't enough.

4 men are suspected of trafficking birds but there is only one witness which is not enough to ensure conviction.